ARE YOU COMPLIANT?

OSHA (1910.1030(e)(2)(ii)(B)): Contaminated materials that are to be decontaminated at a site away from the work area shall be placed in a durable, leak-proof, labeled or color-coded container that is closed before being removed from the work area.

CDC: Minimize handling of loose contaminated instruments during transport to the instrument processing area. Use work practice controls (e.g., carry instruments in a covered container) to minimize exposure potential.

LOCKING Trays & Covers

Set-up your procedure trays ahead of time with all instrumentation needed. Non-slip feet for stability.

Our exclusive Safe-Lok® tray cover provides an excellent method of infection control and safety. Side locking mechanism securely locks cover to tray.

Holder for syringe tip or Saliva Ejector.

 Color options can be found on page 20.

SMALL CHANGES Big Results

Cluttered drawers = stress and chaos. Stay efficient with color-coded organization.

Start by removing everything from your operatory drawers. Place in a large box and set aside. Restock your operatory drawers with staple supplies such as: bibs, saliva ejectors, cotton products, etc. (basically, anything you use in EVERY procedure).

Here's where the Tubs come into play. You need a minimum of one Tub for each procedure. Each Tub should be a different color. Now you will be able to quickly identify what procedure it is for. Stock each Tub with all materials you will need for that procedure.

Store ALL Tubs in a central area (such as sterilization). The Tub comes into the treatment room when a procedure is performed. Pull out what you need at chairside. Disinfect and re-store.
